Welcome. I am here to build this vacation with you. Your website is not built yet, so this chat is the whole workspace until it is actually up.

Tell me the trip basics: where you are going, when you leave and come back, who is coming, and what matters most.

If family or friends are coming, we can welcome them onto this vacation as collaborators. View access lets them see the days. Edit access lets them add notes after you approve an email invite. They join from that email, accept the terms, and then this vacation opens.

Onboarding: Building the itinerary

post-purchase-email-eula.md

The app says it is building the itinerary from the intake.

Friday, April 3rd to Sunday, April 12th, 2026, with the house in Kailua-Kona as your base. We are now building the itinerary from those details now. To clarify access: View access lets someone like Marcus Chen see the full plan. Edit access allows someone like Aunt Jean to add notes after you approve an email invite. People join from that approved email invite, accept the terms, and the vacation opens for them. Now, let's shape those loose days. With Kimberly's gardens, Tyler's swims (and a backup at the house pool if the k is windy), and Lauren's preference to not stack big activities, we can space things out nicely for your crew of four adults and the four kids. We'll make sure the week feels right just as you want, with room for groceries, a town walk, and dinners.

Welcome them onto this vacation as collaborators. The household plan is unlimited vacations for the whole year.

Got it — Friday, April 3rd is all about easing into the island. The crew lands, hops on the SpeediShuttle to Kailua-Kona, and settles into the house. You'll unpack, get oriented, hit the grocery store while the kids (Torren, Peyton, Keegan, and quiet little Fallon) get their first feel of Big Island air. It's smart to keep it light, especially with little ones adjusting. The evening can be low-key: a simple dinner at the house, maybe a backyard moment or
